By Paul Rardin

I've never lived in anything but a small town. Naturally I was interested in the following article from The Packer.

The death of Senator Frederick Van Nuys, a native of Palm Beach, took from the national arena a rugged individual who had great pride in his small town birth and the fact that his father served a large community as a country doctor. He had written the Rushville (Ind.) Republican that the memories of his Hoosier boyhood would still live.

"Those were the horse and buggy days," he recalled, "and adventures in life included annual visits to the Rush County Fair. We left at daybreak and came home at dark, tired and worn and loaded down with souvenirs that long continued us."

"Home and friends were life's chief attractions then. No telephones, no autos, no picture shows, no paved roads, no radios—just home and friends. I wonder if any of last week's cottagers recall what they missed."

"They think they are living a more abundant life. Maybe they are, but I wouldn't trade the memories of my boyhood days for all the excitement and entertaining entertainment of the modern age. I can't express my gratitude for the privilege of being born in a small town."

Lions Entertain Motor Corps Group

Members of the Pahokee Red Cross Motor Corps were guests of the Palm Beach Lions at a luncheon meeting on Tuesday. L. V. Vela Elliott, in a talk gave a brief outline of the history of the Corps and told of its work and services. How the work of the Red Cross Motor Corps should not be done was demonstrated in a humorous manner by Mrs. Verneette May, Mrs. Marion Blech and Mrs. Sadie Bacher. Other members of the Corps present were Mrs. R. Sam Moseley, Mrs. Herman Wood, Mrs. R. L. Chas. Smith, Mrs. E. C. Johnson, Mrs. Sam McKinstry, Sr., and Mrs. S. K. Kirk.

Mr. O'Connell reported to the Lions the progress being made in the establishment of a recreational center for the Pahokee-Canal Point.

On display at the meeting for the first time was the beautiful trophy cup which Pahokee Lions have won in the annual contest of the Lions of the Pahokee and Belle Glade High Schools, the cup to be presented to the Lions of the Pahokee with the winning team for one year or until such time as its team loses. Tentative plans for a football game between the teams in which time the cup presentation will be made to the Pahokee Blue Devils, this year's winner, were discussed.

An invitation was read from The Okeechobee Lions Club to attend its Ladies Night celebration on March 23. President G. M. Belk appointed Duncan Padgett to have charge of reservations for local Lions to this affair.

We regret very much to have heard that we should have lost our good friend and neighbor, Mr. N. V. Maxson, who has given several years of faithful service to the church and the best interests of the community.

Deaths in U. S. War plants are only two-thirds as frequent in this area as in the East.

"IF"

Last week we printed a small front page article titled "IF" which had to do with the future of our children. The article has evoked so much favorable comment that we are reprinting it herewith:

If your monthly bank statement didn't show what your wages were the proper balance, what would you do? We can answer that easily. You would huff it directly to the bank and investigate. Why? Because it involved your finances.

But, suppose each month when your child brings his report card home that his marks aren't up to what you think they should be? What do you do? Do you investigate? Do you seek out his teacher and make an honest effort to ascertain just why his marks aren't up to par? Do you try to remedy the situation?

It's just a thought! Maybe, after all, the child's future is at stake and could be brightened with a little thoughtful cooperation on the part of parents.

This week we are in receipt of several letters from parents, who read the article, and voice their approval of all that it stands for where the lives of children are concerned. So thoughtful and interesting are the letters that we are printing some of them.

Pellian Lake, Fla., March 14, 1944.
Mr. Paul Rardin,
Canal Point, Fla.

I just want to say that I am a mother of school children and appreciate the article in your newspaper of last week entitled "IF". It is nice to know that an interest is being shown in school children. The founders of America and the state must rely upon an educated citizenship for its continued existence. In pursuance of this, the state must invest in the education of its youth. The state of this vast territory, and those from other territories as well, have organized an excellent system of education.

The only class of the famous Ordinance of 1787 that is now remembered is the following: "Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

Surely there must be other things, as well as schools, for which our children could benefit. Yours very truly,
Mrs. J. S. Atkins, Jr.

Canal Point, Fla., March 13, 1944.
The Everglades News,
Canal Point, Fla., Gentlemen:

I read with interest the editorial "IF" which was in The Everglades News on March 10. I heartily agree with your suggestion that with a little thoughtful cooperation the part of parents something can be done for our citizens of tomorrow. Every thinking adult in this community is concerned with the welfare of this community in building citizenship. The community has a responsibility in providing recreation and activities not offered in the home or school. Recognizing this, the Canal Point Parent-Teacher Association has endeavored the establishment of a recreational center in this area. Such a project will require widespread support of every citizen.

Yours very truly,
Mr. W. P. Jernigan, Jr.,
President Canal Point P.T.A.

Pahokee, Fla., March 14, 1944.
Editor The Everglades News,
Dear Paul:

As citizen of Pahokee, a member of the council and chairman of Public Works committee of the Canal Point Community Development Council.

Black Bass Bit Good On Last Day

Black bass were biting good on the last day of the season—March 15. S. C. Burns and M. V. Pugh were the winners. They caught a black bass weighing 10 pounds. There were many sized ones in the catch and the boys treated many of their friends.

Waste Fats Needed To Make Munitions

Are you saving your waste fats? You'll get two red points and four cents a pound for all you turn in at your grocery store. It will make a lot of difference if it is scoured a little—it will still do to make munitions of war. Four it up in tin cans and deliver to the United States in Canal Point, Elmer Jones Market or Chastain's Grocery in Pahokee.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank those who were so thoughtful during the death of my brother, John. I shall always remember the encouraging words and acts of kindness.

Arthur Campbell.

Rev. Jordan Will Close Canal Point Pastorate Sunday

The Sunday evening service at the Canal Point Baptist church will mark the closing of the pastorate of S. B. Jordan who has served this church seven years. He will begin as pastor of the Hialeah Baptist Church Sunday morning, March 20th. He would like to request that the membership of the Canal Point Baptist Church be present Sunday morning for a special message to them since Sunday evening marks the end of the revival held jointly by the Methodist and Baptist churches.

The growth of the Canal Point Baptist Church during the past seven years has been steady and in many respects very pleasing. The church reported in 1937 its property to be $10,000 and this year $11,000.00 in valuation. The new members received averaged 21 per year, or a total of 150. The church, however, with all departments well organized and given substantially to the support of the church. Mr. Jordan's term of office was the highest esteem in the Palm-Lake Association and the State Baptist Church.

Mr. Jordan shares in the fullest way in the up-building of the Canal Point Baptist Church as the Adult Sunday School Class, and leader of the young people.

Bill Wall Seeks Seat in Congress From 6th District

Announcing his candidacy for Congress in the new sixth district which includes Palm Beach County, Bill Wall of West Palm Beach today based his plea for the Democratic nomination on a platform aimed at the application of business principles to government.

The platform which I am announcing in this issue of The Everglades News follows the principles of a majority of the people of this district. Mr. Wall said in a prepared statement. It is not the province of the Congress to tell the people what they should do, but to help them to do it. He said his first duty is to represent them, to work for legislation they want and to fight their battles with the bureau.

We can expedite the present job of the government by materially improving the task of winning the peace if we apply sound, practical business methods to both problems, he said. He believes our people are convinced we must cooperate fully with all Allied nations in preserving world peace and future security of this nation.

We need to get down to business in government. Mr. Wall said, "Everywhere I go I find a sentiment against unnecessary departments, agencies and bureaus, against the vast network of regulations and forms. All this could be simplified. ## DEBUNKING AIR DREAMS

According to W. A. Patterson, president of the United Airlines, a lot of people have been looking only at the maps that show the air routes over the top of the globe to other continents. The airplanes are going to start where the cash registers ring, are going to follow established trade routes, and it will be a long time, many years, before the airplane changes them.

Of particular interest to American municipalities were remarks by Mr. Patterson, who told reporters that the acceptance of air transportation at 20 times a normal rate. "But with passenger fares at 51 cents a mile, we are not yet a mass transportation facility. We're the taxicab of long distance transportation, so to speak," he said. "I hope we can get down to four cents a mile, but four cents doesn't make mass transportation, and there's a question of whether there's three cents down."

In the field of private planes, Mr. Patterson expects "tremendous sales," and "tremendous failures," as we "go through an emotional stage of wanting something we can't afford."

Communities planning to become air centers of the universe can for a while be content largely with the airports they have now, according to Mr. Patterson, except for such improvements as more attractive terminal facilities, the clearing of obstructions to navigation, and so on. He believes that it will be at least 10 or 15 years before the helicopter becomes "a practical, acceptable development."—Florida Municipal Record.

ARMY BUG KILLER

Complete freedom for Florida's great citrus and vegetable industry in the post-war years from the insect pest against which they must sleep day and night will now may be contained in a little glass jar that sits on the desk of Lt. Col. John Quincy Adams Daniels, sanitary officer of the army-air forces tactical center in Orlando.

That white powder is a super-secret. Its name can't be mentioned. But one of its exploits is now known to everyone. It's the weapon the U. S. army used to knock out the typhus epidemic in war-torn Italy. Typhus is carried by an insect. That insect is the little fellow that the doughboys of the other wars dug to a scotch. He is known more generally as a body louse, because his favorite habitation is a warm spot on the human body. U. S. army doctors in Italy sprinkled the Italians in occupied areas with their super-secret white powder and the lice disappeared. So did the typhus epidemic.

It is known that this powder's potency is not only effective against lice. It is a deadly enemy of almost every other insect. Just now the army has a monopoly on its use, and its secret is closely guarded, because insects are the enemies of every army, and the U. S. army has fought battles as well as exterminating them as enemies.

But when the war against the Japs and nazis is won, the war of Florida planters against their insect enemies will still go on. When the air force's job of aerial bombardment to destroy the human enemies of the U. S. is done, it may leave a weapon that will forever eradicate the insect enemies of the Florida farmer.—Orlando Sentinel.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

by Russell Kay

Reports from various sections of the state indicate that Florida voters are beginning to show signs of life. Registration that lagged pitifully when books were first opened, has picked up sharply.

Credit for this awakened interest should go to the Florida State Junior Chamber of Commerce, Florida Voters for Peace, the Government, Labor organizations and the newspaper, all doing their utmost to arouse the people and quicken their interest in political affairs.

Heavy registration is reported from Hillsborough and Duval counties and sharp increase is indicated in most of the smaller counties. In other words, there is the frequent appearance of candidates with their ballboxes and sound wagons has encouraged the qualification of voters.

This year travel restrictions and the gasoline shortage have retarded town-to-town campaigning and it has resulted for local party and civic organizations to encourage folks to register.

Interest appears to be centering on the Senatorial race which promises to develop into a pro and anti New Deal contest, with Senator Charles Pepper carrying the torch for the Roosevelt administration and his opponents the opposition.

Pepper's opponents are relatively unknown to the voters and the Junior Senator has the advantage that always goes to the man in office, but anti-administration, anti-Pepper sentiment is strong throughout the state. Many voters will cast "against" ballots that will be divided among the bounties now being at the Senator's disposal.

Most in the Senator's hair at the moment is young, energetic, combative Millard Connelley of Duval County. He has been getting about with the agility of a gazelle, pointing with alarm and shouting over his shoulder.

Lake City's Finely Moore, generally discounted and laughed off by political wisemen, is also getting around and while he may not be helping himself to any extent, he isn't certainly doing the Senator any good.

Alston Cockrell, Jacksonville attorney, despite his age and lack of political experience, is being backed by the Roosevelt supporters and will probably have the active aid of former Congressman Mark Wilcox who is running for the race so far is Ed

Edmunds of Jacksonville. While not

THE DRAFT BOARDS

The draft boards the nation owes a large debt of gratitude. Probably it will never get around to paying the debt. But will be all right with the boards. By now, after more than three years of voluntary service in the nation's thickets, there are no doubt hardened to the idea that their reward must be the satisfaction of knowing that they have done their bit for the country in a critical time and done it well.

As a matter of fact, they are too busy to listen for applause. Through their 6,500 makeshift offices flows a whole generation of American manhood. In their hands is the responsibility of sorting millions of men ready to go to the front and fairly to the rear. They must consider the men one by one, for no two men are alike. There can be no herding of them into the armed forces. Each man must be judged separately for his fitness, physical, mental and moral, his family's economic status and the community's ability to spare him from civilian duties.

The task the greatest study and shifting of the nation's history, calls for days and nights of gratuitous devotion from tens of thousands of citizens. While finding manpower for the army and the navy the board must keep up the nation's strength. They must understand a mountainous volume of regulations. They must keep the records—a staggering job in itself, as their clerks can testify. Continually, as military demands grow and the situation changes, they must make decisions—those of the average board affect the lives and the future of 3,000 men to say nothing of the well-being of the men's parents, wives and children. And always the board must be patient and lenient, making allowance for ignorance and carelessness.

They are doing the job, doing it conscientiously and in the American way of democratic good sense. They try to "democratize" work with it sleeves rolled up. The fact that the work is decentralized, that it is performed by neighbors of the young men on whom the country must call, helps to explain the success of the selective service system.

Democracy, the totalitarians said, would break down under the strain and the confusion of total war. The work of the draft board answers that. —NEW YORK TIMES.

LAND OF BABEL

In Genesis, Babel was only a city, pre-scientifically not large, with a tower which became notorious because of the confusion of tongues that took place in it. In 1945, and for a time thereafter, Babel will be a nation, one of the greatest in the world known as the United States.

After the other world war veterans came home with vague smatterings of French, and a few with ideas English (insular patois) and Italian. After this war the boys will be bawling in at least a score of languages, including the Arabic. We stay-at-homes are going to have a lot to learn when that time comes.—NEA Editorial.

NEXT YEAR'S TAX BLANKS

James Hunt, president of the Massachusetts state senate told a woman's club that the tax blanks next year would have three entries:

1. How much did you make last year?

2. How much have you left?

3. Kindly send it in at once.—Clewiston News.

WORRIES OF A WAR MOTHER

Mrs. Murphy—What's a jeep, Mary? John writes me he's running around with one.

Mrs. Clancy—It's an army automobile.

Mrs. Murphy—Oh, the saints be praised. I thought it was a female Jap.—Progressive Farmer.

mountings of the First Lady, the reaction is nevertheless harmful to its cause. The injection of the boondoggle Canal Commission into the campaign brings out another issue that will cost the Senator plenty of votes that he might otherwise have counted, for feeling against the canal of sea-level, large or any other kind is still plenty strong. Here, as in the Senator's way as the spot and it is to his credit that he remained consistent on the issue.

All this does not sum up defeat for Pepper. He is no push-over and the only hope of upsetting him rests in the ability of one of his opponents to get in the second primary. It could happen and if it does then they will see an all-out Senatorial campaign, and no fooling. Even if Pepper wins the Democratic nomination he still will have November to worry about, and it promises to be one of the most interesting November states this state has looked forward to in many a day.

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

I've always considered Albert Dikaker a very clever fellow, a chap who possesses a versatility that fits him admirably into any role he may be casted in. In the outdoor, western action pieces, I believe him particularly good. And in his latest picture, "The Woman of the Town," I think he is outstanding. The picture is due at the Prince Theatre on the Owl Show, Saturday and on the Sunday-Monday run.

Chloe Trevor, a very clever little lady, in the "Lady of the Town," and Albert falls madly in love with her. You see, Albert plays the part of "Bart" Master, the toughest character in all the West. And he is a pretty rough fellow until he meets Chloe and she softens him up. Of course there is another man in the cast, which happens to be Barry Sullivan, somewhat of a newcomer to the screen, but a fellow who is making quite a name for himself for he not only boasts good looks, but acting ability.

Remember Arthur Lake, who does Dagwood in the popular "Blondie" series of American screw-ball family life? Well, with the Tuesday-Wednesday screening, which is "Sailor's Holiday," we find Arthur with Jane Lawrence and a fine cast of players, clowning his way through a delightful story of the life of a sailor on leave as we have screened in some time.

Thursday-Friday brings the documentary evidence of the "boredom of the Russian people in this war with the screening of "The City That Stopped Hitler." It's the story of Stalingrad where the Germans threw everything they had at their front lines, moving up to the very gates of the city, only to be driven back in a defeat that will go down in history as the most disastrous in the present war. (For the same reason, it's a real picture which is not a re-run of oldies and they don't bring back oldies unless they are outstanding. This one is "Grits on Probation." A story that will tug at your heart. It has a fine cast, headed by Ronald Reagan and Jane Bryan and the story it tells would fit right into conditions in large cities of today. SIXTH DISTRICT
OF FLORIDA

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN, WITH
25 YEARS' PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

PLATFORM

A Congressman's first duty is to REPRESENT his people—to work for the legislation They want—to fight Their battles with the Bureau.

I believe the following principles, briefly outlined, are those of a majority of the people of the Sixth District of Florida.

1. Win the War and Win the Peace. Cooperate with all Allied nations in preserving world peace and the future security of this Nation.

2. Assist rehabilitation of men and women of the armed services; providing vocational training and complete re-employment assistance so all may have equal opportunity to earn a good living; providing complete hospitalization and rehabilitation for the disabled.

3. Maintain a strong Navy in peacetime. Maintain strong National Guard and Reserve Officers organizations. Establish limited military training of youth, for their physical and mental development and our future protection.

4. Cooperate with private enterprise to maintain a large Merchant Marine, that American ships may carry our proper proportion of world commerce.

5. Take immediate action to obtain air transportation base privileges now being established throughout the world.

6. "Get down to business" in government. Eliminate all unnecessary departments, agencies and bureaus. Staff those considered necessary with competent personnel, establishing priority ratings for service men and women. Reduce the vast network of regulations and forms, eliminating all war restrictions as soon as possible.

7. Encourage individual initiative and private enterprise. Simplify income tax and other necessary forms so they may be readily understood by any intelligent person. Provide tax credits for post-war risk, capital and modernization improvements. Less regulation and more cooperation with business.

8. Cancel all unwarranted restrictive laws and regulations relating to the growth, expansion and marketing of agriculture. Secure prompt treatment of war-time agricultural regulations. Eliminate sugar production quotas; protect agriculture in continental United States.

9. Provide adequate transportation facilities by land, water and air for development of natural commercial and agricultural resources of the District and State. Develop Fort Myers-Stuart canal for yacht and commercial use. Secure prompt return of military airports and development of all air facilities in cooperation with State and local governments.

10. Equalize present discriminating Southern freight rates now retarding growth and development of industry and agriculture in our District and State.

11. Provide adequate Social Security through old age pensions for the necessities and comforts of life beginning at the age of sixty.

12. Decentralize government, eliminating infringement of States' rights, and repealing restrictions of Constitutional rights now imposed because of the emergency, as soon as possible. Return to the people all rights and freedoms granted under the Constitution.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Sorry Judge, my shipment of suspenders still hasn't come in. Some articles are mighty scarce these days. I don't get anywhere near as much as I could sell."

"With the war going on, I don't get to expect those things. It's true of luxuries just as it is of necessities. Take whiskey, for example. There's a real shortage in that. It's to be expected when you realize there hasn't been a drop of it distilled in this country since way back in October, 1942."

"The only thing distillers have been making during that time is war-alcohol for the Government. So, I wasn't surprised a bit to read how bootlegging and black markets have sprung up around the country as a result of the dwindling supply. Our 13 years of prohibition proved that if folks can't get legal whiskey, they'll get illicit whiskey. Sure, the shortage doesn't last too long. I'd hate to see this country turned over to the bootleggers again."

PATRONIZE THE ADVERTISERS

A Vital MESSAGE to the Voters of Florida:

Meeting in the City of Orlando recently, a group representing business, the professions, industry, agriculture, women's clubs, chambers of commerce and varied interests discussed the grave problems that confront the state and nation as we approach another election.

Feeling that the time has come for the people to speak out clearly and emphatically as to their wishes concerning vital issues that confront all of us, the following clear-cut "Declaration of Principles" was unanimously endorsed and is herewith presented to the voters of this state for thoughtful and serious consideration.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

We Advocate:

1. WIN THE WAR
Wholehearted cooperation of all the people of the United States in winning this war for personal liberty and in preserving the fruits of victory.
2. CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT
The return to, and maintenance of, our National Government as created within the framework of the Constitution of the United States.
3. STATES RIGHTS
The preservation of the rights of the States of the Union, except where such rights have been expressly delegated to the Federal Government by the Constitution of the United States; and the abolition of Federal grants when predicated upon Federal control.
4. SOUTHERN TRADITION
The recognition of the inherent right of the people of the Southern States, as well as the right of the people of other sections of the United States to the preservation of their local, time-honored customs and traditions.
5. FREEDOM FROM FEARS AND COMPULSION
The right of individual free enterprise in labor and management without fear of Government reprisal; and the right to work without being compelled to pay tribute to any man or organization.

REASONABLE TAXATION

6. The adoption of a National tax program that will enable private industry to reconvert to peacetime operations, and thereby provide immediate employment in private industry for those now in the armed services, or engaged in war production.

LIMITED FEDERAL TAXES

7. Limitation upon the taxing power of the National Government so as to restore the constitutional functions of state and local governments.

INDIVIDUAL INITIATIVE

8. Individual initiative and self-reliance in agriculture, industry and in the professions. The American tradition of individual freedom and responsibility must be maintained, regardless of sociologic or paternalistic trends which might promise temporary security.

GOVERNMENT COMPETITION

9. That the Government of the United States should not enter, directly or indirectly, into business in competition with private individuals, except in time of war.

TEACH CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT

10. The introduction into the state educational system of an intensive course of instruction on the fundamentals of constitutional government.

For the purpose of widely publicizing these principles and to encourage statewide consideration and discussion of the vital issues with which they deal, it was decided to set up an organization.

Adopting the name: Florida Voters for Constitutional Government, E. D. Keene, Winter Garden, was named President; John D. Clark, Waverly, 1st Vice President; Dr. Meredith Mallory, Orlando, 2nd Vice President; Russell Kay, Tampa, Secretary, and M. L. Lyle, Orlando, Treasurer.

Concerned with issues and policies rather than men or parties, this organization does not support or oppose any specific candidate for public office, State or national, but rather presents a yardstick by which all may be judged.

Bill Wall—

form revisions are mandatory and could be accomplished. Less regulation of business and more cooperation should be a Congressional aim.

"We all know of the unwarranted restrictive regulations relating to the growth, expansion and marketing in agriculture, and we know they should be cancelled. Expert treatment of necessary war-time agricultural regulations is not too unreasonable to expect and the Congress can insist on these reforms. Elimination of sugar quotas and protection of agriculture in continental United States would be a tremendous boon to the people of our District.

Full Support Needed

ED HAMILTON

Ed HAMILTON, P. F. C. U. S. Marine, is quoted by Glades Florida as saying: "Future growth of the Glades is dependent on agricultural development. With that development, industry within the Glades will keep pace with agriculture. It is necessary that full support be given the Glades for Post War Growth. You can count on my full support for Glades agriculture when I am elected to Congress." This is one of the reasons why his friends urged him to run for CONGRESSMAN.

Pin-up for Those Not Buying Bonds

This American soldier took refuge under a truck during a Jap bombing raid of our positions on Rendove. A Nipponese bomb, however, had his number on it. Here you see his cowardly removing his body from under the engine. When you are asked to buy War Bonds think of this picture.

From U. S. Treasury

States would be a tremendous boon to the people of our District.

"We are not now provided with adequate transportation facilities—by land, water and air and we must secure proper development of all these elements. The Fort Myers-Stuart canal should be improved for both yacht and commercial use. Air facilities should be developed in cooperation with state and local governments, not under exclusive Federal control.

"One of the most important single bars to the proper development of the entire South has been the unequal, discriminating freight rates, which are now hampering business, industry and agriculture. One concerted effort by Southern representatives in Congress would force equalization of these rates, in my opinion.

"I believe in providing adequate social security through old age pensions for the necessities and comforts of life, beginning at the age of sixty."

Ed Hamilton Has Ideas Concerning Job In Congress

Any man elected as Congressman from the newly created Sixth Congressional District will have to spend considerable time orienting himself in Washington when he goes there to represent the people from this District. "Getting acquainted" is going to require endless hours of hard work with little time for relaxation.

"That in itself is a job for a young man," says Pfc. Ed Hamilton, U. S. Marine. "There may be short cuts that he can make in establishing himself in Washington. Influential friends can help but in the long run the job is up to the individual himself. How well he succeeds will rest entirely with the congressman."

"As I see it, our congressman is going to have to be a salesman. First he must sell himself to members of Congress and then he must immediately follow through with the importance of his district to the Nation. If the successful candidate from this District has failed to foresight along these lines then he is not the right man for the job," the young Marine said.

"One thing I wish to stress at this point," Hamilton said in a recent communication, "My friends have publicized the fact that I left my law practice my ranch and family to enlist in the armed services. May I say here and now that I am due no credit for this act. It is no more than millions of other patriotic men and women have done and will continue to do until we make the world safe for free people."

Commend Plan To Employ Veterans

CLEWISTON, March 16. — (FNS) — A Veterans Administration official has voiced high praise of the United States Sugar Corporation for its plan to hire hundreds of disabled veterans at the new starch factory now under construction here.

M. Bryson, manager of the Veterans Hospital at Bay Pines, said: "To our knowledge, this is the first big corporation to take such an active interest and realistic view of the post war problem regarding veteran personnel."

"It appears that the corporation has very modern ideas as to personnel relations and that men entering its services will have every chance to advance in direct ratio to their ability to produce."

Florida officials of the Veterans Administration, and the United States Sugar Corporation are rushing forward an employment plan for war veterans in connection with the company's new diversification program and post war plans that will provide jobs for more than 7,500 persons.

Cattlemen Okeh New Movement

ORLANDO, March 16. — (FNS) — Giving full endorsement of the "Declaration of Principles" advocated by Florida Voters for Constitutional Government, the Florida State Cattlemen's Association has thrown the full weight of its powerful organization solidly behind this movement for a return to Constitutional Government.

President P. E. Williams of the Cattlemen notified R. D. Keene, head of the Voters group, of action taken and pledged the active support of Florida cattlemen in the worthwhile effort.

The Florida State Cattlemen's Association has long been recognized as one of the strongest and most influential organizations in the state, representing one of Florida's major industries, and its support, together with that of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation, United Growers & Shippers, business, industry, civic, and professional groups that have already joined the movement, indicates clearly the desire of an overwhelming majority of the people for a return to sound principles and sane practices in our governmental operations.

Commenting on the action of the Cattlemen, Williams said: "If there is such a thing as true pioneer American stock, you'll find it in the cattlemen. Our people, from the founding of the Republic down to the present day, have led the way and carried the torch of true Democracy. We have played a major part in carving a great empire through individual initiative and self reliance."

"Our America is a very real, a very precious thing. It is clean and strong and great and free, for ours is the America of sweet scented pine and wind swept prairie, of backwood and bayhead, where men live close to their God and learn to appreciate their blessings. We love this America of ours and we want to keep it like it is. We see in the present trend toward centralization and regimentation, a serious threat to our way of life and because of this we welcome an opportunity to join with you and other patriotic citizens in voicing our protest and demanding a return to the time tested Democratic principles that made this nation great."

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Payne are spending the weekend in Miami where Mr. Payne will be guest speaker at the South Miami Baptist Church at the Sunday morning service.

Everyone will answer YES to this question.

Rebuilding of the Pahokee-Belle Glade Road Is Proof That The Lake Section Will Be Recognized When A Newspaper Goes to Bat for This Area

Everyone will agree with this statement when they remember the seven weeks editorial campaign carried on by The Everglades News last summer which culminated in the contract being let for rebuilding of the road.

Paul Rardin, Editor of The Everglades News, is now a candidate for County Commissioner from the Everglades District. He will make every effort as County Commissioner to get the roads to which the Lake Region is so rightly entitled and has been unable to get during the past 12 years.

Railroads are handling 3 times as many passengers as in 1940

1/2 of all the sleeping cars and 1/3 of all the railroad coaches now employed in moving troops

If you have to wait...

The present travel situation is largely a matter of simple arithmetic. Railroads are handling three to four times as many passengers as before the war but, due to the war, they have far less equipment available for civilian use.

During peacetime, the Florida East Coast Railway was able to operate as many extra winter trains as travel required. Some of the trains, such as the "Florida Special" were run in as many as eight complete sections. That made it possible to accommodate almost everyone on or about the date they wanted to leave for their trip home.

But today it's a different story. So many railroad Pullmans and coaches are needed to move troops that equipment can't be spared for extra Florida service. Even a large portion of the space on existing trains has to be reserved for military use.

So if you have to wait for reservations we hope you will realize that war conditions are chiefly to blame, and that we are doing our best to meet the situation. Extra equipment, particularly Pullman equipment just cannot be obtained. Naturally the needs of military and other travel essential to winning the war must come first.

"We Are Buying War Bonds—Are You?"

Part of Sgt. Edward Straube's left foot was shot away at Ferryville, near Bizerte, North Africa. At Halloran General Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y., they are building up his foot again. Sgt. Straube, from Perth Amboy, N. J., buys War Bonds regularly.

Sgt. Bernard Bella, 22, of New York, was wounded by snipers during the Sicilian campaign. His grandparents live in Naples, and he has a brother in the army. Both buy War Bonds regularly. Do you do as much?

Technician 2nd Grade John A. Wapner, 23, of Dor, Michigan, lost his right eye, three fingers and suffered chest wounds from shrapnel in the fight to capture Tunis. He is now recovering at Halloran and is a regular War Bond purchaser.

Pvt. Bernard Heldemann's left leg will be two inches shorter when he is discharged from Halloran. He was wounded by a German bullet during the operations in Sicily last August. His home is Chicago. He has been in traction since Sept. He's buying bonds.

The nickname of Pvt. Milton Lieberman, 22, of Freshburg, is "Tass Gable." He was wounded in Sicily last August and has been at Halloran since October. Every payday $12.50 is taken out for War Bonds. Lieberman is saving. How many do you buy?

to think so, very indication points to a well-planned and deliberate scheme of a group in the "inner circle" to bring about a complete and permanent change in the American ways of life.

Ag. Individual citizens it will be our privilege to give tangible expression to our wishes in the coming election. We will do well to select those we choose to represent us with the utmost care. It is your duty and obligation to register and vote and if you have not already done so, make sure you are qualified. Absenteeism at the ballot box can be a more disastrous to the nation's welfare than absenteeism at the assembly line. This time, mumbled lip service to the Constitution is not enough. Demand that the candidate of your choice really means it in his heart.

When a message announcing that a serviceman is wounded, killed, missing, or a prisoner of war is returned to the War Department because the next of kin has moved and left no forwarding address, Red Cross home service attempts to locate the person named.

When an emergency occurs in a serviceman's family and his presence at home is essential, the Red Cross, at the request of his commanding officer, will assist the man requesting the furlough by verifying the need.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

by Russell Klay

Thinking Americans, who have watched with growing concern the steady encroachment of the Administrative branch of our government upon the Legislative and Judicial, with the attendant breaking down of those constitutional checks and balances, designed from the beginning to safeguard and protect the people, breathe sighs of genuine relief, when at long last, under the courageous leadership of Democratic leader, Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Congress, voicing the will of an overwhelming majority of the people, openly revolted.

Unfortunately as it is that such action should be forced at a time when this nation is involved in war and while our enemies can be depended upon to make the most of it, nevertheless, it had to come and the best interests of all will be served as a result of it.

Rebukes and slurs on the Congress, by whoever made, are rebukes and slurs on the American people themselves, for Congress stands alone as the people's voice in government. During this trying period Congress has time and time again permitted itself to bow to the dictatorial will of the Administration, to serve the war effort and safeguard the nation it has placed in administrative hands more power than was ever so placed before in the nation's history.

America is at the cross-roads. The people of this great nation must decide now whether we wish to maintain this government within the framework of the Constitution and preserve the glorious heritage, earned for us by the blood, sweat and tears of our forefathers, or whether we wish to accept the role of serfs and slaves to a dictatorial, bureaucratic system that offering so-called "security" rob us of our freedom.

We must decide now, whether we wish to maintain our personal and sectional independence, stand on our own feet, solve our own problems, preserve our self-respect and individual initiative or whether we prefer to become helpless wards of an all-sufficient, all-powerful governmental system that looks upon us as "children" and assumes the role of a benevolent parent that will "look after" us and supply all our wants from the cradle to the grave. If we are "good" or whip us and send us to bed without any supper if we fail to strictly observe every rule, edict or regulation laid down as mandatory by some pipequak bureaucratic chief.

With minds centered on the international scene and our hearts eager to do all in our power to further the war effort and get it over with so that our loved ones may return, and we may enjoy the fruits of victory, we are apt to overlook what is happening to America at home. Little by little step by step, our form of government is being made over, changed to fit a pattern entirely foreign to true Democracy and designed to so enslave the populace that under the burden of debt and bureaucratic governmental control they will be powerless to resist and subject to the autocratic will of those in power.

The road we have been traveling the past few years is not a new road, on the contrary, it is an old old road, traveled many times before by other nations to their sorrow and ultimate doom. It is a road that begins with glittering lights of hope and promise, but ends in darkness and oblivion. We are attracted to it as moths to the flame, with catch phrases and platitudes that appeal to our inherent selfishness and greed. Lured to sleep with glib promises of "abundance" and "security" we exchange our bright light of freedom and independence to become mere puppets of autocratic overlords.

Entrenched within the framework of the Administration today are many fanatical theists who as advisors and policy makers are doing everything in their power to completely wreck our governmental structure and set up a fanatical, socialistic, paternalistic totalitarian system in its stead. They had made considerable progress with their plans before the war but found the emergency a perfect blind for the expansion and promotion of their program. Patriotic citizens hesitated to question any administrative action—no matter how brazen and accepted sacrifices, surrendered liberties, submitted to indignities and injustices compelling themselves that all this was "only temporary."

But, is it all chargeable to the war emergency? Is it only temporary? Much as we would like

Resources Board Promotes Cattle Raising In County

The cattle population of Florida increased faster than any State in the Nation during the period 1938-1943 according to figures released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, February 29th.

The Agricultural Committee of the Palm Beach County Resources Development Board plans include vigorous promotion of the cattle industry. While already flourishing, it is still in its infancy and is still beset by many problems, the Committee declared.

The three states in which cattle growth increased faster than in the nation, or the 6th District as a whole, were Florida 33.4 per cent, Tennessee 27.9 per cent and Alabama 22.1 per cent. A number of reasons have been advanced for the great forward strides in our Florida cattle business.

1. A steady increase in the quality increased; upward of eighty per cent of the State's cattle have shown improvement since 1934, with 40 per cent showing a marked advance in quality.

2. There are now approximately 8500 registered beef type bulls in Florida as compared with 325 ten years ago.

3. Improved Pasture areas have increased; upward of eighty per cent of our cattle no longer range but are fenced.

4. Some 600,000 acres of pasture have been developed, greatly improving grazing whereas, as late as 1937 Florida had less than 50, 000 acres of developed pasture land.

The United States Sugar Company has done extensive research work in the development of concentrates for cattle fattening; Herbert Johnson and other large local herd owners are conducting similar experiments.

With the termination of the War, the dairy industry is expected to make a decided forward surge—labor shortage has retarded its growth locally during the War period, whereas less labor is involved in the growing of beef cattle, local cattlemen point out.

Palm Beach County now boasts one of the 18 livestock auction markets developed in Florida since 1938, indicative of the permanent nature of our cattle industry. J. S. Adams and his Associates at Gretna are developing a marketing center vital to the expansion of our livestock industry. This market deserves the cooperation of buyers, growers and the citizenship of the County as a whole," declared J. J. Cater, Resources Board President, speaking for the Agricultural Group.

Members of the County Agricultural Committee include: Sam Chastain, George Benzel, Jack Faircloth, Ellis Lamb, E. F. Sundy, Herbert Johnson, Hugh Dillman, Orrin Randolph, M. U. Mounts, W. C. Bowen, Howard Haney, S. J. Blakey, Oscar R. Winchester, A. H. Butts, Frank Brown and Alf R. Nielsen.

Getting the Most from your Victory Garden

Use Vegetables at Their Best

Many home gardeners forget the mistakes idea that vegetables must mature before they are ready to eat. "Pick 'em young" advise specialists at the Perry-Morse Seed Breeding Station who have had years of experience determining the proper stages for picking.

Snap beans are at their snap-piest just before the beans inside have begun to form. This is also the best stage for canning. Pods of green peas should be plump, smooth, and fresh green in color. If the pods are flat, let them grow a few days longer. It is wasteful to pick them when peas don't fill the pod. On the other hand, if pods have turned slightly whitish and wrinkled, the peas are too old and will not cook tender and tasty.

When you have eaten carrots at finger size or a little larger, you will never again hanker for full-grown roots. Kale Rabi globe should be allowed to get no bigger than two inches across before popping, then into pot or skillet. Straightneck summer squash is fast becoming a favorite, but the tendency is to let the fruits grow too large. Slice them with skin and seeds intact when four to five inches long and boil or fry gently for just a few minutes. All the delicate flavor and nutritive values are saved, and summer squash becomes epicurean instead of a tasteless mass.

The slender pods of okra should be gathered and used when 2½ to 3 inches long. At this size they are a real delicacy and less gummy, either as a vegetable alone or in soup and stews. Try slicing young cucumbers for the table when they are no more than five inches long—the flavor is rich and fresh at that stage. The time to pick or not to pick an ear of sweet corn sometimes stumps the experts. Experience says the silk should be brown and somewhat dry, and the ear plump to the touch through the green husk. As a double-check, however, seasoned gardeners usually strip down a bit of the husk while the ear is still on the stalk. If kernels are deep, close together, and milky when pierced with the thumb nail, they are ready.

Is Bringing Him Comfort and Hope!

Through the tangled bars of enemy prison camps—over sea and jungle to battle-weary, lonesome men on every front—to unfortunates here at home stretches the comforting hand of the Red Cross, with hope and tangible gifts straight from your heart. Man has conceived of no greater agency for the relief of human misery and suffering.

Giving to Red Cross has always been a proud habit of millions of American families—and this year you will want to give more freely to your own Red Cross... to your own sons and daughters in the service. None will be forgotten while your Red-Cross is on the job—and it is YOU who must keep it so. So dig deep and be glad. For wherever he is
